GERMANS DRIVEN FROM THIRD LINE

General Haig Reports Taking Ten Thousand Prisoners

'ALL'S WELL AT FRONT'

British Troops Continue to Deliver Smashing Blows on Teutons is the Statement

Berlin, July 15.—"Despite several losses, the British succeeded in penetrating our lines between Pozieres and Longueval, gaining ground and occupying the Trones wood," said an official statement issued this afternoon.

London, July 15.—The Germans at one point have been forced back to the third line of their defense under smashing British blows, four miles behind their original front General Haig reported to the war office this afternoon.

"All is well at the British front," said an official statement.

"We have pushed our rear from Fricourt to Mametz, capturing 2,000 prisoners in 24 hours.

"The total number of prisoners since the beginning of our offensive is now 10,000.

"In addition we have taken large quantities of material."

The strategic importance of the British successes is marked by the straightened of their line in conformity with that of the French, who had hitherto advanced at a much greater speed than their allies. The statements of press correspondents at the front that the British losses were comparatively small, and the brief preliminary artillery preparation for the attack, give strong support to statements that the German second line was much less strongly fortified than their first defences.

Fierce counter attacks made by the Germans, in an effort to reconquer some of the ground captured by the British in today's drive, were completely crushed by the British fire.

While it was expected the British would not allow any great length of time to elapse before continuing their operations, it was hardly believed that the second German line would be attacked after only one day of artillery preparation; for it was only on the day before yesterday that they completed the capture of the first line in the region between Hardecourt and Ovillers.

The direction of the attack, too, was something of a surprise, for instead of pushing on toward Combles, General Haig chose to attack the flank of the Germans who faced Montalmaison and Ovillers and those who still occupy Pozieres.

Dispatches from Sir Douglas Haig and from the press correspondents show that the fighting has again been of the heaviest character. At one point the Germans, by a furious counter-attack, succeeded in driving the British out of Bazentin-le-Petit. They were immediately driven out again by a British infantry attack, and the village remained firmly in British possession.

The Rev. S. A. Jones pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Barksburg, Montgomery county, Md., had a narrow escape from death last night when his automobile backed over him, pinning him to the ground. He was held under the car for six hours. Mr. Jones was returning from Rockville alone in his car and stalled on Seneca hill, near Barksburg. He got out to put chains on the rear wheels, when the brake failed and the car glided back. The machine pressed him into an embankment. He was held in this position from 11 o'clock last night until he was found this morning at 5 a. m., by a huckster of Burdette, who released him. While Mr. Jones was pinioned under the machine several storms occurred. The gutter in which he was lying, was filled with water, which came up to his mouth.

ALL THE BOYS ARE WELL

Light Infantry at Brownville, Texas, But Expect to Be Ordered to Mercedes Shortly.

John M. Johnson has received a letter from his son, Captain Conrad Johnson, commander of the Alexandria Light Infantry, which was recently sent from Richmond to the Mexican border. Captain Johnson says all the Alexandria boys are well. The command is expected to be transferred at any time to Mercedes, a point farther up the Rio Grande. The captain had nothing unusual to report concerning the trip to Brownsville, nor in the experience of the Alexandrians during their stay in Brownsville.

AUTO'S UPSET KILLS MAN

Blinded by Lightning He Drives Big Truck into Ditch

Wilmington, Del., July 15—David Campbell, aged 29, died at the Delaware Hospital yesterday morning from injuries sustained in an automobile accident on Penny Hill about midnight Thursday. Mrs. Margaret Ford aged 25 years, is at the same hospital with a broken arm, and Miss Nellie Sweeney, of the same address, is a patient there, suffering from cuts on the face and body. The accident in which these three and six other persons figured was due to the storm that was raging while the party was coming to their homes in an automobile truck owned by the Hartman and Fehrenbach Brewing Company, by which Campbell was employed.

He was driving the truck and while descending the hill was blinded by a flash of lightening and ran the truck into a ditch at the side of the road. As the machine turned over it struck a telegraph pole and Campbell's head was crushed between the pole and the side of the truck. George Rash, who was sitting beside Campbell was thrown out and his forehead was cut Rash and Albert Speer and Miss Mary Speer, both of Philadelphia, were hurried to the Delaware Hospital with Campbell in an automobile that happened to pass at the time. Speer suffered a cut chin, while one of Miss Speer's ribs was broken. Albert Rash and a young woman escaped practically without injury.

With his skull badly fractured as a result of an automobile accident at Twenty-second and Market streets, Harold Davis, of Philadelphia, is in a critical condition at the Delaware Hospital. He is employed as a driver by the Kolb bakery, of Philadelphia, and about 4 o'clock yesterday morning was piloting one of the company's big automobile delivery trucks along Market street when the machine skidded and struck a pole.

HOT WEATHER "DONT'S"

Are Issued to the Baltimore Public by Health Commissioner Blake.

The following "Dont's" were issued by Dr. John D. Blake, of the Baltimore Health Department, yesterday, and if the people live up to these "dont's", there is little probability they will be overcome by the hot spell. The dont's as issued by Dr. Blake are as follows:

"Don't expose yourself to the hot rays of the sun.

"Don't take ice-cold drinks.

"Don't take stimulants during the extremely warm weather.

"Don't overtax yourself, either mentally or physically.

"Don't overload the stomach. Eat sparingly and eat slowly, and be sure that you thoroughly masticate your food.

"Don't bathe on a full stomach.

"Don't sleep in a draft.

"Don't look at thermometers.

"Don't worry.

'Don't remain up late at night. Get plenty of sleep and rest, for these things are essential. The body needs both to help in the work of recuperation from the wear and tear of the business day.

"Don't visit crowded places. Be sure that the places you do visit are well ventilated.

"Don't take cold plunge baths unless you are used to them. If you wish to begin taking cold plunges, start first by taking cold sponge baths every morning."

Fierce Counter Attacks Crushed By British Troops

CONTINUOUS FIGHTS

Bazentin-LePetit, Longueval and Trones Wood Are Occupied by British Troops

London, July 15—Fierce counter attacks made by the Germans, in an effort to reconquer some of the ground captured by the British in yesterday's drive, were completely crushed by the British fire, according to the official statement issued by the War Office last night.

Bitter fighting was proceeding in the afternoon in the woods beyond Longueval and on high points of a ridge occupied by the British during the day. According to the correspondents the British suffered comparatively small losses in the day's fighting.

The positions gained yesterday leave the Germans seriously threatened at Pozieres, on the main road from Albert to Bapaume, while possession of the territory around Longueval brings the British advance into line with the French at Hardecourt. Further heavy British casualty lists issued today give the names of 104 officers killed, 311 wounded and 1,750 men killed and wounded.

Paris, July 15—The bombardment along the Belgian front has reached a point of the greatest intensity, according to the official statement issued by the French War Office last night. The text of the statement follows: "The day was relatively calm on the whole French front.

"In reprisal for the bombardment by the enemy of the open town of Luneville on the night of June 24, one of our aviators flying at an altitude of about 1,500 feet, dropped several shells of large calibre on the town of Mulheim, on the right bank of the River Rhine.

"Belgian communication: Artillery duels continue at different points of the front, particularly in the region of Steenstrate. At this point the struggle reached a point of the greatest intensity during the afternoon.

Berlin, July 15—New and violent battles are being fought on both sides of the River Somme yesterday morning, says the official statement given out yesterday by the German headquarters staff.

East of the River Meuse, in the region of Verdun, the French attempted to reconquer territory captured by the Germans, the official statement says. Near the fortress of Couville the French attack was impeded by a curtain of fire, it is declared, and in the vicinity of Laufee work the attack was completely repulsed.

PEACE TALK REVIVED

Russian Council Departs for Field Headquarters.

London, July 15.—The departure from Petrograd of the entire Russian council of minister on their way to imperial field headquarters been the cause of much speculation in the Russian capital, according to news dispatches from Petrograd.

Only once before since the war began has a similar council been held At that time it was devoted to a consideration of important internal conditions and created a precedent in Russian history. Popular opinion ascribes the present council to the situation of Austria.

For the second time in the war Austria-Hungary has met with crushing defeat, and there is a strong feeling in influential quarters that if Austria again throws out feelers for a separate peace they should be welcomed by the allies.

BLAZE ON KING STREET

New York Bargain House Gutted By Conflagration Late Yesterday Afternoon.

Between 5:30 and 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon the fire department was called out to answer an alarm of fire in the New York Bargain House, a clothing store at 319 King Street, the interior of which was in flames. After quick work by the fire laddies the flames were subdued, but not until after practically the entire stock of the store had been irreparably damaged by the smoke and water.

The valuation of the stock is about $7,000, and is a total loss for the proprietor, B. Lieberman, as no insurance was carried on either the stock or the property.

Defective electric wiring is said to have been the cause of the conflagration, crossing of the wires being the immediate cause of the blaze, however. Mr. Lieberman was badly burned about the hands in efforts made to beat out the blaze before he sounded an alarm.

This is the second fire which has occurred in Mr. Lieberman's store within about a year.

KILLED SELF

Coroner's Jury Reaches Decision in Mystery After Thorough Consideration

Warrenton, Va., July 15—The coroner's jury sitting in the case of Thomas E. Pattie, who was found dying July 7 on the railroad tracks here, with several wounds in his head last night rendered a verdict of suicide.

There was evidence that the aged man was suffering from melancholia, and that he had expressed the purpose to take his life by jumping in front of a train.

The coroner's jury reported it found it difficult to undestand how the deceased was struck by a train, yet decided it was not a physical impossibility for the injuries to have been received this way.

There was no evidence to show foul play.

The coroner's jury was assisted in the investigation by Commonwealth's Attorney G. Latham Fletcher.

OUSTER LAW AND QUERIES

Thousands of Officers Have Never Really Known Responsibilities of Their Position

The passage of the ouster law has brought into the office of Attorney-General Pollard in Richmond a flood of inquiries concerning the duties of various local officers, especially in reference to the enforcement of the Sunday and liquor laws.

Under the statute the Attorney-General is only legal adviser at the seat of government to government officeholders, and be is, therefore, not empowered to render official opinions to justices of the peace county sheriffs notaries public and other officers, but as a matter of personal courtesy to those who enquire, he has referred them to section 3912 of the code, which makes every judge, justice of the peace, clerk in chancery, notary public and county surveyor a conservator of the peace, which means that it is the duties of these officers, as well as constables, to arrest, or cause to be arrested, those who violate the laws in their presence.

The Attorney-General has also referred all inquiries to the provision of section 3988 of the code, which requires every sheriff, constable or other officer to give information of the violation of any penal law to the Commonwealth's Attorney, who must institute and prosecute all proper proceedings in such cases.

These statutes have been so long ignored that it will come as a distinct surprise to many officers who have not known it was their duty to report violations of law. Thousands of notaries public n the State, including many women, have not had the slightest idea of the duties evolving on them to see that the law is enforced. There seems to be almost no public officer who has not a duty to perform, and is liable to lose his position if it is proven that he has failed.

NAVAL COLLIER HECTOR LOST

Officers and Crew of Ill-Fated Vessel Are Rescued

CAUGHT IN THE STORM

Ship Was Abandoned Several Miles From Shore After The Hurricane Had Abated

Washington, July 15—The Navy Department received the following dispatch from Captain Bryan, commandant of the Navy Yard at Charleston:

"Hector ashore seven miles northeast Romaine gas bouy. Abandoned by crew at 12:45 a. m. Ship broken in two and a total wreck. All hands saved. Chief engineer and one fireman seriously injured. Carpenter sustained broken leg. Officers and crew being taken to Charleston."

Charleston, S. C., July 15—The big naval collier Hector, carrying 60 marines, in addition to her crew of 70 men and 12 officers, sank off Charleston late yesterday, according to a report tonight from Captain Hunt of the tug Vigilant, which tried to go to the Hector's assistance. He was unable to say whether those aboard escaped.

The steamer Alamo had been standing by the collier yesterday, having responded to her calls when she war disabled some 60 miles off here in Thursday night's hurricane. Static conditions were such that no wireless report could be obtained tonight from Alamo. The sea still was running high.

The Hector left Port Royal for Santo Domingo Thursday. She attempted to put into port here when the storm disabled her, but, according to Captain Hunt, went down about nine and a half miles from the Charleston Lightship. Captain Hunt said part of the collier's superstructure remained above water.

The loss of the collier was first reported by Capt. F. R. Hunt of the tug Vigilant. Captain Hunt said the fate of the crew and the marines is unknown.

The lighthouse tender Cypress went out to the assistance of the Hector, but was unable to breast the heavy seas, and returned.

The Vigilant, which had been in wireless communication with the Hector, reported that a steamer was standing by, but it was not known whether she had transferred the marines and crew. Wireless communication was difficult.

Wireless advices were that, the Hector was 14 miles off Charleston and was coming in at the rate of four miles an hour.

Washington, July 15—Appeals to any vessels in the vicinity to go to the aid of the Hector were broadcasted by the Navy radio towers at Arlington.

Wireless orders were sent to the coast guard cutter Seminole, off the North Carolina coast, to go to the rescue of the Hector.

The Hector left Charleston Wednesday afternoon for Guantanamo, and has on board, in addition to her crew, 50 marine recruits to fill up vacancies in the marine expeditions in Santo Domingo and Cuba.

The Hector displaced 11,200 tons, 384 feet long, and was built at Sparrows Point, Md., in 1908.

ASSAULTED HIS RIVAL

Negro, Suffering From the Green-Eyed Monster, Causes Scene in the Street Last Night

Two negroes, John Galaway and Ellis Jackson, were mixed up in an affray last night on north Pitt street near Princess, caused by jealousy over a colored girl, to whom both paid court. Galaway alleges that he was walking out north Pitt street last night with a small colored boy, when Jackson who had been following him, suddenly ran up and struck him in the back of the neck, whereupon he, wishing to avoid an encounter, walked on further at a rapid rate, when Jackson still followed him, and again struck him, throwing a brick in his direction also.

At this, Galaway says he turned and using a jack-knife he had in his pocket, lunged at his assailant, managing, however, only to rip his coat. Immediately the two negroes began to mix it up, and it is possible that the affair would have assumed serious proportions, had not they been taken into custody about that time by the police, who had become appraised of the affray.

In police court this morning, Galaway's testimony was corroborated by evidence of witnesses, while the statement of Jackson that the fight was provoked by Galaway lacked substantiation, and Jackson was fined $10.

This morning also Francis Robinson was fined $5 for disorderly conduct, improper language, and attempt to resist officer when placed under arrest.

EVANGELIST ON FAITH

Interesting Discourse on the Sine Qua Non of Religion at the Gospel Tent.

"Faith" was the subject of the sermon delivered at the gospel tent by Evangelist Gibson last night. Among other things he said:

"Without faith it is impossible to please God. The definition of faith as given by the apostle Paul, is 'Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.' 'Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God."

The speaker further said that if people would read and hear the Bible read more there would be much more faith than is now apparent. If people would read and study their Bibles one hour a day and would spend some time in seeking help from God in prayer, much more faith would be revealed in the lives of the people than is now discernible. God tested the faith of the children of Israel as they were going from Egypt into the promised land. When the Egyptians were close upon them, the mountains upon one side of them and the Red Sea before them, the command was to go forward. This, from a human standpoint, was an impossibility, but with God all things are possible,which proved true on that occasion. They went forward, as God had commanded, and the waters were divided and the chosen seed passed through safely, which the Egyptians assaying to do were drowned. God alway cares for His people, when they put their trust in Him. Daniel was a man of faith and prayer, and the Bible abounds in instances where men have confided in the Lord and found His promises true."

The subject for tomorrow (Sunday) night will be "The results of Disobedience and Obedience." Special music will be rendered on the occasion.

J. REECE CATON'S APPEAL

Judge Barley Will Render Decision Early Next Week

The case of J. Reece Caton, fined recently for violation of the Sunday law, and appealed to the corporation court, was heard yesterday before the higher tribunal, Judge Louis C. Barley presiding. Attorney Leo P. Harlow represented the appellant and the case was argued for the State by Samuel G. Brent, commonwealth's attorney. At the conclusion of the arguments Judge Barley took the case under consideration and in all probability will render a decision early next week.

ST. SWITHIN'S DAY

Today is St. Swithin's day—the festival of Swithin bishop and patron of Winchester, a city which, even in the early days of the Romans in Britain, had attained some note, and is mentioned by Ptolemy under the name of Venta. The common adage regarding St. Swithin, as every one knows, is to the effect that, as it rains or is fair on this day, there will be a continuous season of wet weather for 40 days ensuing.

MOON IN PARTIAL ECLIPSE

Phenomenon, Visible All Over The Country, Witnessed by Many Persons Here

There were a number of people who sat up last night to witness a phenomenon that never grows old.

A partial eclipse took place, which was visible at different intervals in all parts of the United States. The moon entered the shadow of the earth at 10:11 o'clock, the middle of the eclipse occurring at 11:37 o'clock, and at 1:04 o'clock this morning the moon was entirely without the earth's shadow.

A peculiar feature was that the moon was full five minutes before the eclipse occurred, reaching its fullest dimension at 11:32 o'clock. The middle of the eclipse occurred five minutes later at 11:37 o'clock.

The hurricane which struck Charleston, Thursday night abated yesterday. One life was lost in Charleston. Damages to shipping and the water front was not great, and the balance of the city did not suffer severely. Hundreds of island dwellers could not be reached yesterday, by boat or wire but it is believed they are safe, as they had ample warning of the approach of the storm. Hundreds of trees were blown down and resulted in crippled trolley and wire service. Ferry service also was affected by the heavy sea and high tides. The one death was that of a negro killed by a live wire.

BRITISH OPTIMISM

As is suggested by a contemporary, David Lloyd-George is not a thoughtless optimist and he enjoys exceptional opportunities for forming a sound judgment with regard to the military situation on the Continent. When he declared at the Entente conference in London that the combined offensive of the Allies has wrested the initiative from the Germans, that "we have crossed the watershed and victory is beginning to flow in our direction," he speaks, not with the wild extravagance of Winston Churchill, but with a certain authority. Mr. Lloyd-George, it may be noted, is careful to qualify his statement and to admit that the task of the Allies is "but half accomplished." He is evidently persuaded, however, that the tide has turned very decidedly in favor of his side and that there is now substantial ground for hope of complete victory. His view is based not only on the scientific and co-operative campaign on the east and west fronts and on the successes already achieved on each, but on the fact that both the British and the Russian armies are equipped with guns and munitions as never before, and that Great Britain is prepared to turn out an ever-increasing supply of all the material essential to a prolonged offensive.

British and French army officers sailing from New York recently to rejoin their regiments at the front declared their firm sonviction that the war would be over some time this year, and that the troops would not have another winter campaign in the trenches. Major Walker Leigh, of the Royal Fusiliers, said he believed the present activity on the western front combined with the Russian drive, was the beginning of the end.

"I am now going back to my regiment to take part in what general conditions point to as the last series of battles in the great war," said he.

"The German people, especially the Socialists, are beginning to realize that they cannot defeat the Allies, and the longer the war lasts the more they will suffer financially and commercially, not to mention the sacrifice of the manhood of their country."

Capt. August Bibot of the Forty-fourth Regiment of Infantry in the French Army said:

"I do not think that Germany can stand the strain until November even because Russia is swallowing Austria and will eat Turkey on what American term 'the side.' I feel certain that I shall be able to eat Christmas dinner with my family, and that the war will be all over by that time."

Capt. G. J. Ryan, from Calgary, Canada, was equally convinced that the war would not go through another winter. He had heard in Ottawa that the British were determined to see Germany's military power crushed because the Government did not wish to keep up a big army after the war is over."

THE ALLIES' OFFENSIVE.

In the great offensive movement which the allies have begun in France and which seems to have made notable progress yesterday, the great objective, of course, is the highways and railroads lying behind the German lines and which have enabled the Teutons to shift their forces with such facility and to supply the men in the trenches with food and ammunition. The Philadelphia Record says if the British and French are able to continue their advance, cutting first the highway that runs from Bapaume to Peronne and then pushing on to the railroads that traverse the country from north to south, they will so endanger the German position, especially the salient near Soissons, that retirement will be necessary to a line farther east. This in turn will involve the withdrawal from a large part of Belgium and northern France, unless the Teutons are prepared to resist attack from both the west and south. Compared with the German progress at Verdun, that of the allies has been rapid and substantial. Their losses, while heavy, have probably not been more than they anticipated.

While public attention has been largely focussed on these movements in France and the Russian's drive against Kovel and Lemberg, Saloniki begins to loom up as another likely centre of deep interest. Dispatches have mentioned the withdrawal by Austria of troops from Montenegro, Servia, and Macedonia in order to strengthen her Galician forces, and it seems probable that Germany has taken the same step if she had any soldiers left in the Balkans. This has left to Bulgara the task of facing single-handed the French, British and Servian armies collected at Saloniki and probably superior in numbers to those of Czar Ferdinand. If this is the case, and if the allies have been able properly to equip and provision these forces so far from their base of supplies, the date fixed for an advance cannot be far distant. Whether the Bulgarians, who are popularly supposed to be by no means enthusiastic over their alliance with the Central Powers, could withstand such an onset must be considered doubtful. Especially alarming will be their position if Rumania threatens to make trouble.

The outlook is one which can hardly be pleasing to the German General Staff, In the words of The Cologne Zeitung, "it would be vain to hope for mercy if our enemies succeed in their plans. There is nothing left for us but to fight with our backs to the wall until such victory be achieved that we can force peace on our foes." With the initiative now in the hands of the allies such a victory seems highly improbable. If the British and French carry the day in Picardy their success is likely to be as decisive as was the triumph of the Union army at Gettysburg after two years of our civil war.

THE SHARK MENACE

The recent attacks upon bathers by sharks at coast resorts has caused considerable alarm to the thousands who hie themselves to ocean retreats every summer. The appearance of these monsters of the deep among bathers is calculated to produce consternation, and the anxiety has become so great that the United States Cabinet yesterday discussed ways and means of obliterating these menaces to visitors to the seaside.

The Japanese peril had long since been allayed, and friction with Germany and Mexico had about been eliminated, when the government is called upon to be ready to meet sharks, the terror of mariners from the days of Ulysses and Sindbad the sailor.

In the early days of the world's history men suffered from dreams of aquatic creatures. It would prove interesting to any one to read descriptions of ocean monsters which the curly progenitors of the race imagined inhabited mother ocean. Pictures of sea serpents are to be found in antique prints which are calculated to drive terror into any human being. Serpents as long as one of our sharks are represented as raising suddenly alongside an ill-fated vessel hideous heads into the cabin and protuding their emerging with a man.

While all these pictures are, of course, myths—that is in our day—many prefer to believe such creatures are still loose in the ocean, and argue that if the skeletons of similar monsters are found there is no reason why they should have only lived, moved and had their being before man was placed upon the earth, as scientists tell us.

But to return to sharks. It may not be generally known that these terrifying creatures have at times been known to proceed up the Potomac within fifty miles or less of Alexandria. Such, however have been of the less dangerous variety which, it is alleged, will not attack a live person. That may be, but when the fin of one (this is about all that can be seen) begins to move toward a bather he realizes it is time to pull for the shore.

VIVE LA FRANCE

The fact that Thursday was observed the national holiday of France which celebrates the fall of the Bastile, moved the Philadelphia Ledger to say:

"Something deeper than the old-time gaiety will mark the festival this year. For the French people are now fighting against a tyranny quite as oppressive as that which they escaped when the Ancient Regime went to its doom. Their defeat would mean the downfall of freedon as we know it, the end of a civilization that gives the individual full liberty of development. That is why at a time when the scars of the conflict are still fresh, when the burden of sacrifice is still heavy, when for so many lives the light has all but gone out, the generous sympathy of Americans should go out to their brethren across the sea. Many of our own youth are risking their lives for France, offering them freely to the greatest cause for which any nation could fight. We who stay at home can do no less than pause long enought to breathe an earnest prayer for the nobler and finer France that is coming through such deep waters of anguish immeasurably enriched and purified by the heroic devotion of her sons and daughters. Vive la France!"

WHOSE AUTHORITY?

Editor Gazette:—

My attention has been called to an article in your issue of Thursday, July 13th., signed "Robert E. Gronau, Chief Fire Department," in which the public, and particularly myself, as Chairman of the Fire Committee of the City Council, was invited to consider Rule 23 of the rules governing the Fire Department, which reads as follows: "The Chief Engineer shall be responsible to the Fire Committee for every thing pertaining to the Fire Department. He shall be in charge of the men and apparatus at all times." Although distasteful, I feel that it is a duty to the public and justice to myself and to the committee of which I have the honor of being Chairman, to say that it is my honest conviction that every member of the Fire Department, whether paid or volunteer, or in any other manner connected therewith, is thoroughly familiar with this rule, and being especially, myself, familiar with that part of the rule that provides that the Chief Engineer shall be responsible to the Fire Committee, it is a matter of no little sorprise to learn that the Chief Engineer would deliberately put himself in a position of criticism by publicly proclaiming his knowledge of the rule that holds him responsible to the Fire Committee, and then deliberately attempting to ignore those responsibilities. Under the terms of an ordinance passed by the Board of Aldermen and Common Council on the 28th day of May 1912, and approved by Mayor Fred J. Paff, under date of May 31, 1912, the Fire Committee was vested with the exclusive right and power from time to time to make suitable regulations for the government of the officers and members of the Fire Department and the property of the said Department as it may deem necessary and proper for control and management of the same. It was also authorized to exercise the authority of the duties and functions previously vested in the old Board of Fire Wardens. Rule 23 is not a law, but simply a rule formulated by the Fire Committee with the expectation that the Department would be managed to the best interests, not only of the Department but of the community as well. A majority of the present Committee which is solely charged with the duty of governing this Department having excellent reasons to discontinue the authority given to the Chief have found it necessary to revoke the same to a great extent thereby, assuming, what may appear to those not familiar with the circumstances, a position contrary to temporary rules when such action has come necessary and we adopted the only course which we believed essential to properly protect a section of this city which would have otherwise remained without protection.

WM. DESMOND,
Chairman of the Fire Committee.

VIRGINIA NEWS

W. E. Saunders, of Franklin county, was re-nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Fifth district at Martinsville, yesterday.

J. W. Osteen, attempted to commit suicide in Danville, shortly after 2 o'clock, yesterday morning. He used a pistol. The bullet entered the left shoulder, between the neck and the outer tip of the shoulder. An auto was secured and the man taken to the hospital. It was not believed that the wound is fatal. Osteen is the husband of the woman who took poison a few days ago for the purpose of self-destruction.

A dispatch from Norfolk says that with a 35-foot channel at mean low tide from Baltimore to Cape Henry, the Deutschland would not attempt to submerge entirely, marine men say, until she has passed out into the Atlantic Ocean, where she is almost certain to encounter British warships. Outside the capes and within the 3-mile limit she would find water 70 feet deep. With American ships, enforcing the neutrality laws of the United States, the Deutschland could proceed up the coast almost to Marth's Vineyard on the surface within the 3 mile limit. The subsea liner could easily go out the Virginia Capes with her decks awash and probably escape being seen until she was in water deep enough to submerge entirely.

WAR ON SHARKS

Cabinet Devises Ways and Means of Ridding Coast of Monsters

Matawan, N. J., July 15—Bucking the line like a football halfback, a giant shark plunged through the chicken wire net that penned it in Matawan creek, and escaped to the ocean last night. The fish, believed to be the same one that killed a man and a boy in a savage raid in the creek Wednesday, eluded thousands of persons who made up a shark posse and who lined the banks ready to club or hack it to death.

The chicken wire net was stretched across the narrow Matawan creek at Keyport, where the creek empies into Raritan bay.

Washington, July 15 — Tragic stories of attacks by sharks upon bathers along the New Jersey coast were discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Cabinet. Later Secretary McAdoo announced that the Coast Guard would be ordered to do what it could toward clearing the coast of the dangerous fish and preventing further loss of life.

Superintendent Cole, of the Coast-guard district covering the New Jersey coast, reported today it was his belief that three or four big sharks had strayed in from the warm waters of the Gulf Stream and that there was no large school as many have believed.

Immediate risks, he said, had been averted by placing steel nets about the beaches.

Superintendent Cole said many persons held the theory that the recent storm had diverted some of the warm surface water of the Gulf Stream and that the sharks had approached the shore with it.

New York, July 15—Reports of sharks continued to pour in today from many points, not only along the Atlantic Coast adjacent to New York, but from places along the Hudson River, adding hourly to the terror which has seized the bathers in local waters. While many alarming bulletins were announcing the appearance of sharks along the Jersey and Long Island Coasts, the body of Lester Stillwell, 12 years old, who was killed by a shark in Matawan Creek, Wednesday, rose to the surface of that stream in which dynamite had been used continuously for a day in the effort to raise the body and kill or frighten away the sharks.

Lester Stillwell and Stanley Fisher were killed by the shark in Matawan Creek, and Joseph Dunn, 10 years old, was later attacked, one leg being bitten off. Harry Van Clieg and William B. Clayton, Jr., of Matawan found Lester Stillwell's body today. By permission of Dr. Harry Neafie, county physician, the body was removed to an undertaker's establishment.

The body bore the marks of the fatal attack by the shark. The left side of the abdomen was torn open and a big piece of the flesh is gone. The face is unmarked and the legs and arms show signs of the tragic fate of the lad.

The body came up about 200 feet to the west of where the boy was swimming when the shark attacked him.

New York, July 15—A large school of sharks, several of which came close to the vessel, was sighted a fortnight ago by the British full-rigged ship Cumberland, which arrived yesterday from Antofogasta, Chili, after a 134 day voyage. One about eight feet long was caught and killed. Captain Barfield said he saw one large shark about three days ago, and that never before in his long career on the sea had he seen sharks so far north.

Atlantic Highlands N. J., July 15—A 250 pound shark, eight and one half feet long, was captured and killed here yesterday. The big fish became entangled in a fishing net and was only killed after a struggle. The shark was of the blue nose variety with a white belly.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The summit of Castelletto in the Tofano region, has been blown up by the Italians, the entire Austrian forces there being buried in the wreckage.

After the Cabinet meeting yesterday it was learned that President Wilson had endorsed the idea of submitting the Mexican border controversy to the arbitration of commissioners appointed on each side.

Rioting Sinn Feiners wrecked the recruiting office at Cork, Ireland, yesterday and attacked military pickets in the streets. A mob of several hundred men marched through the city singing revolutionary songs. They were dispersed by troops.

A meteor, the unburied part of which is as large as a five room house, fell Thursday night on a farm 20 miles west of Hot Springs. Farmers yesterday were afraid to approach it because of gases and smoke which still were arising.

One man killed a score of firemen overcome by smoke and a property loss of more than $500,000 was the toll of a fire, which swept through the historic State arsenal at Seventh avenue and Thirty-fifth street, New York, last night.

Twenty thousand inhabitants of Lille, Roubaix and Turcoing have been deported into Germany by the German military authorities owing to the impossibility of feeding populous districts on account of the blockade.

Mayor Hyde, of Charleston, and a party of friends who were on a fish ing trip up the coast when the hurricane struck Charleston Thursday, night, are missing. A motor boat containing Mrs. A. W. Petit and a party of friends en route to Kiawah is also believed lost.

John Hessin Clarke, Federal district judge at Cleveland, Ohio, was nominated by President Wilson yesterday as an associate justice of the Supreme Court, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles Evans Hughes to accept the Republican nomination for the Presidency.

Members of the Austrian Imperial family have been summoned to Schoenbrunn owing to the illness of the Emperor Francis Joseph, according to news dispatches from Innsbruck. Several specialists are attending the aged King-Emperor, and the news of the war is being withheld from him.

The royal chateau on the country estate of King Constantine of Greece was destroyed by forest fires, as well as the crown prince's residence, the Mauseolum, King George, and the nearby military barracks. A number of persons, including army officers, were burned to death. King Constantine saved himself by leaping from a bridge.

Two men were killed and one seriously injured in one of the worst electrical storms which has struck Connecticut this season. In addition, many were struck, barns and other buildings burned, telephones, telegraph and the New Haven road electrical power and signal wires burned out or affected, and thousands of dollars worth of damage done to standing crops.

Leaving a note saying that "this was the only solution," Theodore Wasserman, a wealthy contractor, murdered his wife and 20 months old baby early yesterday in Chicago, and then killed himself. The head of Mrs. Wasserman had been beaten in and the child chloroformed. Wasserman then slashed both his wrists and turned on the gas. No reason is known.

CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many an Alexandria Household.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Alexandria readers.

Mrs. A. Waring, 304 north Patrick street., Alexandria, says: "I suffered awfully at times from my back and inflammation of the bladder. I used to be in such misery during these attacks that I had to have injections of morphine to relieve the pain. The kidney secretions caused me terrible suffering and the pains in the top and back of my head nearly drove me insane. I often got so dizzy that I could hardly keep from falling and I felt sick all over. Nothing did me any good until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at E. S. Leadbeater & Son's Drug Store. Several boxes stopped that awful pain in my back and head and made by kidneys normal."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Waring had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for seven years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble.

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. A red five pointed star appears on each package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and still fulfils its ancient mission as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, biliousness or constipation, get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford. The prices of Maxwell Cars are again reduced—$595 for the Touring Car and $580 for the Roadster are the new prices—effective July 1st, 1916. Only the price is changed—not the car.

We emphasize this point because you might well suppose that a lowered price would necessitate some changes in the Maxwellg car—somethin taken from its complete equipment—or some lowering of Maxwell standards of quality.
